

The Hussy Hicks have a unique musical approach that spans many genres - from boisterous blues and roots, to contemporary folk fortified with delicious vocal harmonies; alt country inspired tales from the road to 80's style power ballads. The girls, Julz Parker and Leesa Gentz are highly regarded for their musicality by their fellow musicians and punters alike, you can expect lots of interactive jamming, killer guitar licks and soaring vocals. This approach has seen them on stage jamming with everyone from Michael Franti and Edward Sharp (Alex Ebert) to John Butler and the Indigo Girls. Hussy Hicks are perpetually on the move, playing the festival circuit and touring across Australia, Europe and USA whilst continually creating new music, collaborating with other artists and maintaining a genuine excitement for their chosen lifestyle.

"Hussy Hicks Rock!" – Michael Franti

"A not to be missed act that are ready for the world" - Peter Noble, Bluesfest Director

"These girls epitomise everything I admire about great music - instinct, passion, courage, creativity and a distinct refusal to compromise their vision"
- Kim Cheshire, Country Update Magazine

"Watching Julz Parker play her custom-made acoustic dreadnought is nothing short of breath-taking; a stark reminder of the huge gap between simply 'playing guitar' and the ability to make an instrument the extension of your musical imagination."
- Sabian Wilde, X Press Magazine

"a swirling blend of dreamy country twang and soulful blues influences" - Scott Templeton, Esperanto

"You won't find a finer female lead guitarist than Julz Parker, who switched from acoustic to electric with ease. As for the voice of Leesa Gentz, it soars and screams yet can be as gentle as a feather tickling your back."
- Derrick Cromb, Blues Radio
